

International Society of Addiction Journal Editors (ISAJE) World Health Organization (WHO)

ISAJE/WHO YOUNG SCHOLARS AWARD 2008

The award scheme aims to provide recognition for the contributions to addiction science of young scholars from developing countries and to promote their involvement in the field.

The award is for the best published paper on any topic related to addiction written by a young scholar from a low or middle income country. The successful applicant will receive a certificate and financial support to attend an international scientific or clinical meeting, to be chosen by the winner in consultation with ISAJE.

To be eligible, the paper must have been published either online or in print form in a peer-reviewed scholarly journal between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2008. The research reported should have been carried out predominantly in a low or middle income country, as specified by the World Bank classification. Applicants must be less than 35 years old and should be the lead author in the paper being submitted for the award. They should hold a current academic or research position in a low or middle income country; or should have held such a position at the time the research for the paper was carried out.

Further details including the application procedure may be obtained at www.isaje.net or from the Executive Officer of ISAJE, Mrs Susan Savva, National Addiction Centre, 4 Windsor Walk, London SE5 8AF, United Kingdom (susan@addictionjournal.org).

Closing date 30 June 2008.

The award is sponsored by ISAJE, WHO and Virginia Commonwealth University.